In Flanders Fields by John McCrae

In Flanders fields the poppies blow

Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly

Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the Dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved, and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders Fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe;
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders Fields.

PROUD TO SERVE THE PEOPLE OF SASKATOON WILLOWGROVE AND THIS GREAT PROVINCE

15 years ago today I had the privilege of being elected to the Saskatchewan Legislative Assembly. Thank you to Saskatchewan residents for allowing me the honour to serve. Congratulations to my colleagues Delbert Kirsch and Don Morgan who were elected that same day. November 5, 2003.

FITTING TO SHARE THIS STORY AS WE APPROACH REMEMBRANCE DAY

If you look at the back right-hand side of a Canadian $10 bill, you will see an old veteran standing at attention near the Ottawa War Memorial. His name is Robert Metcalfe and he passed away September, 2007 at the age of 90.

That he managed to live to that age is rather remarkable, given what happened in the Second World War. Born in England, he was one of the 400,000 members of the British Expeditionary Force sent to the mainland where they found themselves facing the new German warfare technique - the Blitzkrieg.

He was treating a wounded comrade when he was hit in the legs by shrapnel.

En route to hospital, his ambulance came under fire from a German tank, which then miraculously ceased fire. Evacuated from Dunkirk on HMS Grenade, two of the sister ships with them were sunk.

Recovered, he was sent to allied campaigns in North Africa and Italy. En route, his ship was chased by the German battleship Bismarck. In North Africa he served under General Montgomery against the Desert Fox, Rommel.

Sent into the Italian campaign, he met his future wife, a lieutenant and physio-therapist in a Canadian hospital. They were married in the morning by the mayor of the Italian town, and again in the afternoon by a British padre. After the war, they settled in Chatham, Ontario, where he went into politics and became the warden (chairman) of the county, and on his retirement he and his wife moved to Ottawa. At the age of 80 he wrote a book about his experiences.

One day out of the blue he received a call from a government official asking him to go downtown for a photo op. He wasn't told what the photo was for, or why they chose him. 'He had no idea he would be on the bill,' his daughter said.

And now you know the story of the old veteran on the $10 bill.

PROVINCIAL ARCHIVES LAUNCHES FINAL VIDEO IN THE FIRST WORLD WAR SERIES

The Provincial Archives of Saskatchewan is pleased to announce the launch of its video “Amiens, Armistice and Aftermath”, the fifth and final video in the From the Prairies to the Trenches video series. All five videos will be screened at an event co-hosted by the Provincial Archives and the Provincial Capital Commission at the MacKenzie Art Gallery, Shumiatcher Theatre, in Regina on November 7.

“As we commemorate the Armistice that ended the First World War, we have the opportunity to reflect on the importance of archives in preserving historical records for current and future generations,” Minister Responsible for the Provincial Archives Ken Cheveldayoff said. “Archives capture events, stories, voices and images to connect citizens with their past in a very real way.”

SASKENERGY RATE REDUCTION TO LOWEST LEVEL IN 19 YEARS COULD BE WIPED OUT BY FEDERAL CARBON TAX

CHALLENGING THE CARBON TAX IN COURT

- ✓ Continuing Court of Appeal reference case challenging the Trudeau Carbon Tax
- ✓ Working with a growing number of provincial partners to defend Canadians against the Carbon Tax
- ✓ Taking meaningful action to reduce emissions through Prairie Resilience, our made in SK Climate Change Plan

Premier
Scott
Moe

2018
SPEECH FROM THE THRONE

Starting November 1, Saskatchewan homeowners and businesses will see their natural gas rates reduced. However, the savings may be only temporary if the federal carbon tax is imposed on SaskEnergy customers.

SaskEnergy's commodity rate drops from $3.65/Gigajoule (GJ) to $2.95/Gigajoule (GJ) today, which is the lowest rate offered to customers since 1999. SaskEnergy has applied to the Saskatchewan Rate Review Panel for an even lower rate of $2.65/GJ, which would come into effect on April 1, 2019. The Government of Saskatchewan approved SaskEnergy's request for an interim November 1 rate to allow customers to take advantage of lower rates during the peak winter heating season.

"One of the largest commodity rate reductions in SaskEnergy's 30-year history could be short-lived, due to the Trudeau government's plan to impose a fuel levy this spring on every home, farm, and business served by natural gas," Minister responsible for SaskEnergy Bronwyn Eyre said. "While SaskEnergy has been able to pass along savings this winter, the corporation could be forced into several years of large, uncalled-for increases due to the federal carbon tax."

Premier Scott Moe, "We introduced a bill to enact our Made in Saskatchewan plan: Prairie Resilience. Unlike plans from the NDP and Trudeau Liberals, it does NOT include a carbon tax. This plan reduces emissions and protect families & job creators in the province while we continue to take the Trudeau carbon tax to court."

Dr. Dean Vause with his son Taylor Vause

Congratulations to Taylor Vause, a graphic designer and alumnus of Swift Current who designed meaningful jerseys in honour of the 4 Swift Current Broncos and the 16 Humboldt Broncos that tragically lost their lives in two separate bus crashes. Taylor, who is currently playing professional hockey in Austria was extremely proud to release these jerseys. He hopes the jerseys represent all those affected with the respect they deserve.

Swift Current will auction the jerseys off with proceeds benefitting the STARS Air Ambulance, while Humboldt will wear them as a third jersey throughout the season. PROVINCIAL AND MUNICIPAL ELECTION DATES TO BE ADJUSTED

Premier Scott Moe, Justice Minister Don Morgan and Government Relations Minister Warren Kaeding announced that the 2020 provincial, municipal and school board election dates will be adjusted slightly to provide more separation between the two dates.

Under the existing election laws, the 2020 provincial election would have been held five days after municipal elections. Those laws will be amended so the provincial election is held on October 26, 2020, with municipal and school board elections held two weeks later on November 9, 2020. The updates to the legislation will outline that following 2020 on a four-year schedule, future provincial elections will be held on the last Monday in October and future municipal elections will occur on the second Wednesday in November, unless it falls on Remembrance Day.

“After consulting extensively with both rural and urban municipalities, it was clear they wanted to keep their elections in the fall of 2020,” Moe said. “We believe we have reached a reasonable compromise that will allow local officials time to prepare for these changes.”

INTERPERSONAL VIOLENCE DISCLOSURE PROTOCOL ACT - CLARE'S LAW - INTRODUCED IN SASKATCHEWAN

Saskatchewan is the first province in Canada to introduce legislation that allows police to release information about someone's violent or abusive past to intimate partners who may be at risk.

The Interpersonal Violence Disclosure Protocol (Clare's Law) Act will provide the legislative framework for police services to disclose relevant information to people at risk through the "right to know" process and to applicants through the "right to ask" process.

"We have seen too many cases of interpersonal, domestic and sexual violence in our province," Justice Minister and Attorney General Don Morgan said. "If we are able to identify risk and inform those at risk, we hope to help protect people in Saskatchewan from violent and abusive behaviour by a partner."

SASKATCHEWAN JOB GROWTH

Statistics Canada reported today that in October Saskatchewan's year-over-year employment increased by 9,400 jobs. This is the largest gain in jobs for the province since October 2014.

Full-time employment increased by 5,700 jobs and part-time employment increased by 3,700 jobs compared to a year ago. On a monthly basis, seasonally adjusted employment increased by 2,500 jobs from September 2018.

“These job numbers are unequivocally positive news for our provincial economy,” Immigration and Career Training Minister Jeremy Harrison said. “Saskatchewan job creators are showing confidence in our province in spite of the headwinds our economy faces in the areas of transportation, trade and the threat of a federally imposed carbon tax. We will continue to promote our province and the goods produced and manufactured by our residents to new and existing trade markets in order to create jobs and opportunity for Saskatchewan people right here at home.” Read the October highlights here.

Premier Scott Moe, "October's job numbers are strong for Saskatchewan, in spite of a challenging world price and trade environment for our exports. Unemployment is down as we added nearly 2,500 jobs last month, and nearly 10,000 over the last year. That's the best yearly job growth in nearly four years! But there's still more work to do. We will continue to stand up for Saskatchewan workers and jobs."
