SASKATCHEWAN EXPANDS ACCESS TO NEW OVARIAN CANCER TREATMENTS

Saskatchewan is one of the leading provinces to provide access to life-extending treatments.

Saskatchewan women battling one of the most aggressive forms of cancer will soon have access to two new breakthrough treatment options.

Beginning December 1, 2026, Saskatchewan will provide coverage for Elahere and Keytruda for eligible patients with ovarian cancer whose disease has stopped responding to standard treatment such as chemotherapy.

"Our government is committed to putting patients first by providing access to new, innovative treatment options for Saskatchewan women diagnosed with ovarian cancer," Health Minister Jeremy Cockrill said. "These two new treatments will provide hope for patients and families facing a difficult cancer diagnosis and ensure access to innovative, high-quality cancer care close to home."

SALVATION ARMY HOPE IN THE CITY BREAKFAST AND 2026 CHRISTMAS KETTLE CAMPAIGN

It was a pleasure to join Captains Derek and Angela Kerr, dedicated staff, volunteers, donors, and community partners at the annual Hope in the City

Breakfast in Saskatoon. Also in attendance were MLA Erika Ritchie and City Councillors Scott Ford and Bev Dubois.

Premier Scott Moe and our Saskatchewan Government values its partnership with The Salvation Army and the important work they do supporting individuals and families in need across our province.

The morning also marked the launch of the 2026 Christmas Kettle Campaign, with a goal of raising $325,000. Year after year, Saskatchewan people step forward to support their neighbours, demonstrating the generosity and compassion that make our communities stronger.

Thank you to everyone who helps bring hope and make a difference. Wishing The Salvation Army every success with this year's campaign!

SASKATCHEWAN MANUFACTURING LEADS THE NATION

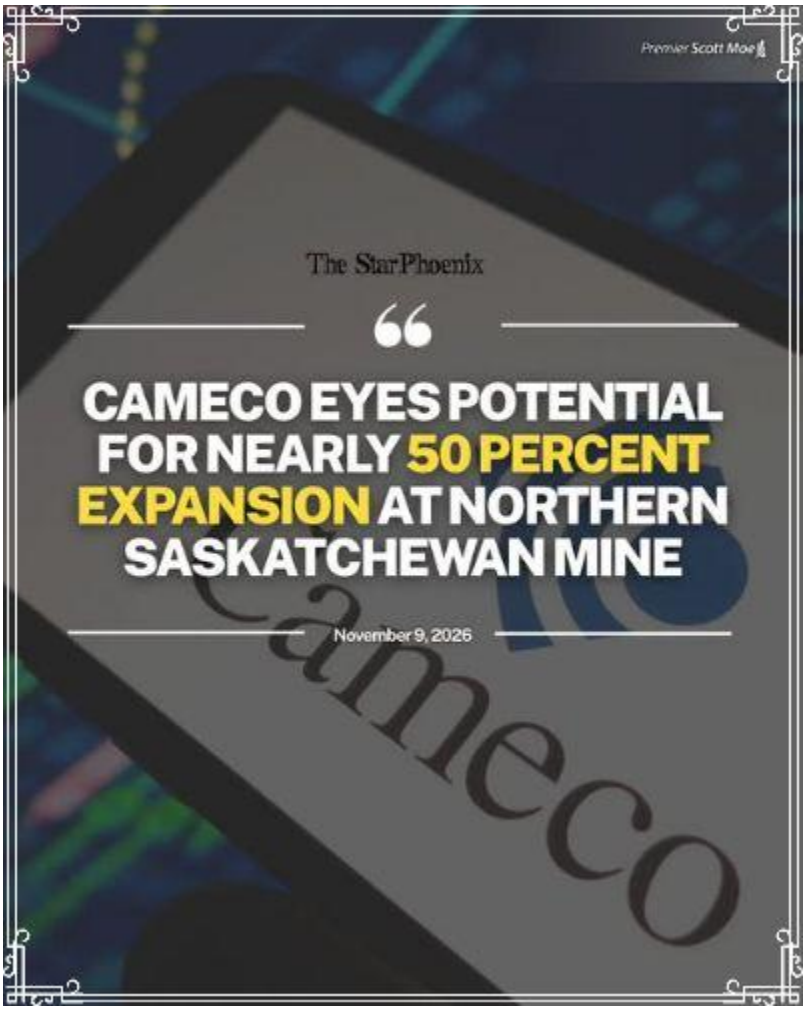

Statistics Canada's latest reports show that Saskatchewan's manufacturing sales increased by 8.8 per cent in September 2026 compared to August 2026 (seasonally adjusted). This month-over-month growth ranks first among the provinces. Wholesale trade also increased 12.8 per cent in the same period (seasonally adjusted).

"Saskatchewan manufacturers turn our resources into the products people use every day," Trade and Export Development Minister Warren Kaeding said. "Our wholesale sector helps get those products to customers here at home, across Canada and to over 160 countries around the world. Together, these sectors create jobs, support communities and help build a strong economy."

CAMECO EYES POTENTIAL FOR NEARLY 50 PER CENT EXPANSION AT NORTHERN SASKATCHEWAN MINE

Premier Scott Moe, "We've got a resource the world needs, and it's good to see Cameco looking at ways to grow its operations right here at home."

Saskatoon StarPhoenix by Nykole King:

Saskatoon's Cameco Corp. says it could dramatically scale up production at one of its northern Saskatchewan uranium mines in the coming years.

McArthur River, located 620 kilometres north of Saskatoon, is known as the world's biggest, high-grade uranium mine. It has the potential to boost output just as two prospective competitors enter the market with their own mine projects in the Athabasca Basin.

STRONG AND STEADY SASKATCHEWAN: GOVERNMENT INTRODUCES PROTECTIONS AGAIN DECEPTIVE AI

The Government of Saskatchewan introduced legislation to address the deceptive and illegal use of AI.

The Prevention of Deceptive Artificial Intelligence Act* defends Saskatchewan people and businesses against the use of deceptive artificial media, often referred to as "deepfakes," which are images, videos, or audio recordings created or altered using AI or similar technologies. The Act includes protections for individuals harmed by the deceptive use of AI and provides the court with appropriate legal responses, including the ability to order removal of content and compensation.

"When used responsibly, artificial intelligence can create great opportunity," Minister of Justice and Attorney General Tim McLeod, K.C. said. "When used for deceptive purposes, however, it can damage reputations, undermine public trust, and create economic hardship. With new developments in this field emerging almost daily, Saskatchewan must be prepared to both take advantage of its benefits and safeguard against its misuse."

PLEASE CONSIDER SHOPPING LOCAL THIS HOLIDAY SEASON

As we celebrate the holiday season, I encourage everyone to remember the importance of shopping local. Our local businesses are the heart of our communities, creating jobs, supporting families and contributing to the places we are proud to call home.

Every purchase made at a local shop, restaurant or small business makes a difference. When we shop local, we are investing in our neighbours, strengthening our economy and helping our communities thrive.

This holiday season, let's show our local businesses some extra love. Your support truly makes a difference!

WHOLESALE TRADE 1ST IN THE NATION

Premier Scott Moe, "Saskatchewan's wholesale trade sector continued to grow in September, with the value of wholesale trade rising 9.8% month over month and 8.4% year over year.
This reflects the ongoing economic momentum and confidence in Saskatchewan's strong, steady economy."

SASKATCHEWAN BUILDING PERMITS SURGE

Province Ranks Second in the Nation for Year-Over-Year Growth

Statistics Canada's new building permit numbers show that Saskatchewan increased 2.7 per cent in from September 2025 to September 2026 (seasonally adjusted).

"Saskatchewan is growing, and today's strong building permit numbers reflect that momentum," Trade and Export Development Minister Warren Kaeding said. "More than $100 billion in major projects are driving demand within the construction sector. That investment is creating jobs, strengthening communities and giving people and businesses more reasons to build their future in Saskatchewan."

PROVINCE PROVIDES FUNDING TO SCHOOL DIVISIONS AND EMERGENCY MEDICAL SERVICE PROVIDERS TO HELP ADDRESS FUEL COSTS

The Government of Saskatchewan is providing more than $9 million to help school divisions and emergency medical service (EMS) providers address rising fuel costs and maintain services across the province.

The funding includes $6 million for Saskatchewan's 27 school divisions, as well as a one-time $3.25 million fuel subsidy for EMS providers to help offset rising fuel costs.

The funding will help school divisions address transportation cost pressures while keeping resources focused on student learning and classroom priorities.

"This support will help school divisions manage increased fuel costs and maintain reliable transportation services for the students they transport safely to and from school," Education Minister Everett Hindley said. "We will continue to work with school divisions and monitor these costs throughout the school year."

Some items to keep in your winter vehicle emergency kit:

• A shovel to dig out snow around your vehicle

• An ice scraper and snow brush to improve visibility

• A blanket or extra warm clothing to stay warm if you're stranded

• Cat litter or sand to improve traction on icy roads

YOUR LEGISLATIVE REPORT

Saskatchewan continues to demonstrate why it remains one of Canada's strongest and most resilient provinces. From economic growth to stronger health care and safer communities, our government is building a strong and steady Saskatchewan.

That commitment is reflected in Saskatchewan's economic performance. Statistics Canada's latest figures show Saskatchewan led the nation in manufacturing growth, with sales increasing by 8.8 per cent in September. Wholesale trade also recorded significant gains, highlighting the strength of Saskatchewan businesses and industries. These results build on the momentum already being created by more than 60 major projects representing over $100 billion in investment opportunities across the province.

This same confidence is being seen in communities throughout Saskatchewan. New building permit data shows Saskatchewan ranked second in Canada for year-over-year growth, with gains in both residential and non-residential construction. Every new home, commercial development and community project represents jobs for Saskatchewan workers and opportunities for families looking to build their future here.

A strong and growing province requires a health care system that continues to deliver for patients. Beginning December 1, eligible Saskatchewan patients will gain access to Elahere and Keytruda, two new publicly funded ovarian cancer treatments. These therapies offer new hope for women with treatment-resistant ovarian cancer while helping ensure high-quality care remains available closer to home.

As technology evolves, so must the protections available to Saskatchewan people. Our government has introduced The Prevention of Deceptive Artificial Intelligence Act, which would establish some of the strongest protections in Canada against the harmful use of AI-generated deepfakes. The legislation is designed to protect individuals, businesses and democratic institutions while ensuring innovation remains responsible and accountable.

Our government is also taking action to support essential services people rely on every day. More than $9 million in funding is being provided to school divisions and emergency medical service providers to help address rising fuel costs. This investment will help maintain reliable student transportation and support ambulance services that families depend on in communities across the province.

Whether it is creating jobs, attracting investment, improving health care, supporting frontline services or protecting residents from new challenges, our government remains focused on delivering results that make a difference. In a changing world, Saskatchewan continues to be strong and steady, creating opportunities today while building a stronger future for generations to come.
